

An interesting tale about a small fruit that has made its way all over the world...been lost & found been adopted and renamed--sometimes investigated by scientists using DNA. It is a story that many of us have grown to love and continue to pursue understanding how it becomes what it is during a most remarkable journey and how a few (extremely insane individuals) examine this phenomenon in great detail and attempt to know as much about dirt, climate, fermentation, aging, vintage and a host of other portions of estoric information. I am one of those people. Sante.

Some information about some of the wines that may not be household names...yet

Godello (also known in Portugal as Verdelho) is a chardonnay-like variety that hails from the northwest of Spain. It is suprisingly well structured, with balanced acidity and tends to pair better with a variety of fare than chardonnay. Fiano is a thick-skinned variety that offers very small amounts of juice from the grape which caused vintners to plant better yielding varieties. This wine is typical of Sicily and Campania and must comprise 85% of the indigenous grape. Tocai Friuliano, typical of the northeast region in Italy, is a "rounder" wine with great versatility. Recently, Hungary went to court to protect the name "tokaji"; now, many producers are simply calling it fruliano. Trousseau Gris is one of the new "nerd" wines in the Sommelier world. Also known as Grey Riesling, this light body, light acid white is an ideal starter wine. It is gaining notoriety all over the world which will certainly impact the number of producers to give it a shot. Savagnin hails from the Jura region (in France)--another "nerd" wine that in some areas must age miminally for 6 years. This wine is sherry-like, with forward nuttiness and creaminess that is often mistaken with the wine being "off." Greco is an Italian offering that originated in Greece; it can be rich and fruity and is a standard house wine in southwest Italy. Gruner Veltliner is Austria's most produced grape. It is crisp, light with pleasant spice. It is very fun to say. Albarino (or Alvarinho in neighboring Portugal) is the queen of white wine in Galicia. Fruit forward, creamy and medium body are the prototypical characteristics. Jacquere is the Savoie's (France) primary commodity. They tend to be light, dry with good acid. Vermentino, in some circles is thought to be related to Malvasia. It flourishes in Sardinia and Corsica but also is keen on the western Italian regions. It is often blended, but when comprised entirely of the variety, it tends to be reminiscent of the coast: light, mild, good acid, salinity. Ideal for seafood courses. Verdejo originates in the Rueda (central Spain) but has found itself thriving in neighboring regions. Although it is fuller-bodied and rich it has a crispness and a creamy texture that in my opinion differentiates it from most any othe white variety.

Corkage Fee

By law, we do NOT have to allow any wine to come into these premises. We pay an annual fee that allows us to do so.

We do allow our guests to bring in ONE special bottle to enhance their experience, provided that they adhere to the following:

- a.) our list does NOT contain the brand
- b.) ONE (1) 750 ml bottle/table
- c.) the guest MUST purchase a bottle from our list
- d.) otherwise there is a $50 corkage fee per bottle

WM=steward's selection underlined wine equates allocated and/or limited to one vintage or until a new release

* wines denote a producer that we have a deeper selection of in the back of the list

Chardonnay, the manna way

"I quit smoking the day I found out I was pregnant, which was nine years ago.
But I'll still smoke in a movie.

I have other vices, you know, like potato chips & Chardonnay; but not together."

The Legend of The Anchorman's Reds

*"It's a hard grape to grow, as you know. It's thin-skinned, temperamental.
It's not a survivor like Cabernet that can grow anywhere and thrive even when neglected.*

Pinot [Noir] needs constant care and attention, you know?

And in fact it can only grow in these really specific, little, tucked away corners of the world.

And, and only the most patient and nurturing of growers can do it, really.

Only somebody who really takes the time...to understand Pinot's potential...

...can then coax it into its fullest expression."

~Miles Raymond ("Sideways")

Masters of Terroir from the Golden Slope

Few slices of land garner the acclaim, attention & prices as the sainted slopes of Burgundy. Meticulously cared for & demarcated by the monks. This slice of wine heaven has become the gold standard by which nearly all other wines are judged. Below is a small selection of some of our favorites, some you may have heard of, others might be new to you which is all the more reason to try them.

Recherché Reds

This area is reserved for those grapes that truly know their roots. Wine has long since been a hot commodity that conquering generals stole among other things; replanted in their local vineyards and often renamed. You'll also find some fun combinations of varietals in here. Some that are difficult to pronounce.

But they are fun to try and enjoy with food and conversation...maybe you might find a new variety that becomes your favorite. Experience from the vines perspective...you won't need a passport for this journey either.

Let's keep things light...

The Nobles

Those varieties that are arguably the MOST important to the growth of the wine industry as a whole. It is in this category where many of the wineries who have made their way "in" the industry cut their teeth. For many of them, they made a noteworthy wine and maintained their focus on the continued excellence of the wine instead of branching out into unknown spaces and losing the intensity that put them "at the table" in the first place. Getting back to the basics but nothing "basic" in their quality.

The Nobler Nobility

The two banks of the Garonne River in Bordeaux have long defined wine greatness for the world over. Here Merlot & Cabernet Sauvignon reign supreme, spurring thousands of devotees that have dedicated their careers to recreating this greatness in different regions across the globe.

The Rhone wasn't Built in a Day

A section that has often been overlooked because it seemingly has been hidden by France's "Big Two": Burgundy & Bordeaux.

But, PLEASE don't overlook this section because these wines can be massive & elegant simultaneously.

Divided into two sections, oddly less fancy than you would expect--Northern & Southern, with the land to the North finding salvation in Syrah based wines & those in the south predominantly Grenache blends...

Very food friendly wines with varying power & elegance can be found in this section featuring:

"The Rhone Rangers": Grenache, Syrah, Mourvedre, Carignan & the rest.

(dedicated to those that opened these doors, especially Jim Clendenen, RIP)

LARGE FORMAT

1.5L (Magnum) = 2 standard bottles 3L (Double Magnum) = 4 standard bottles

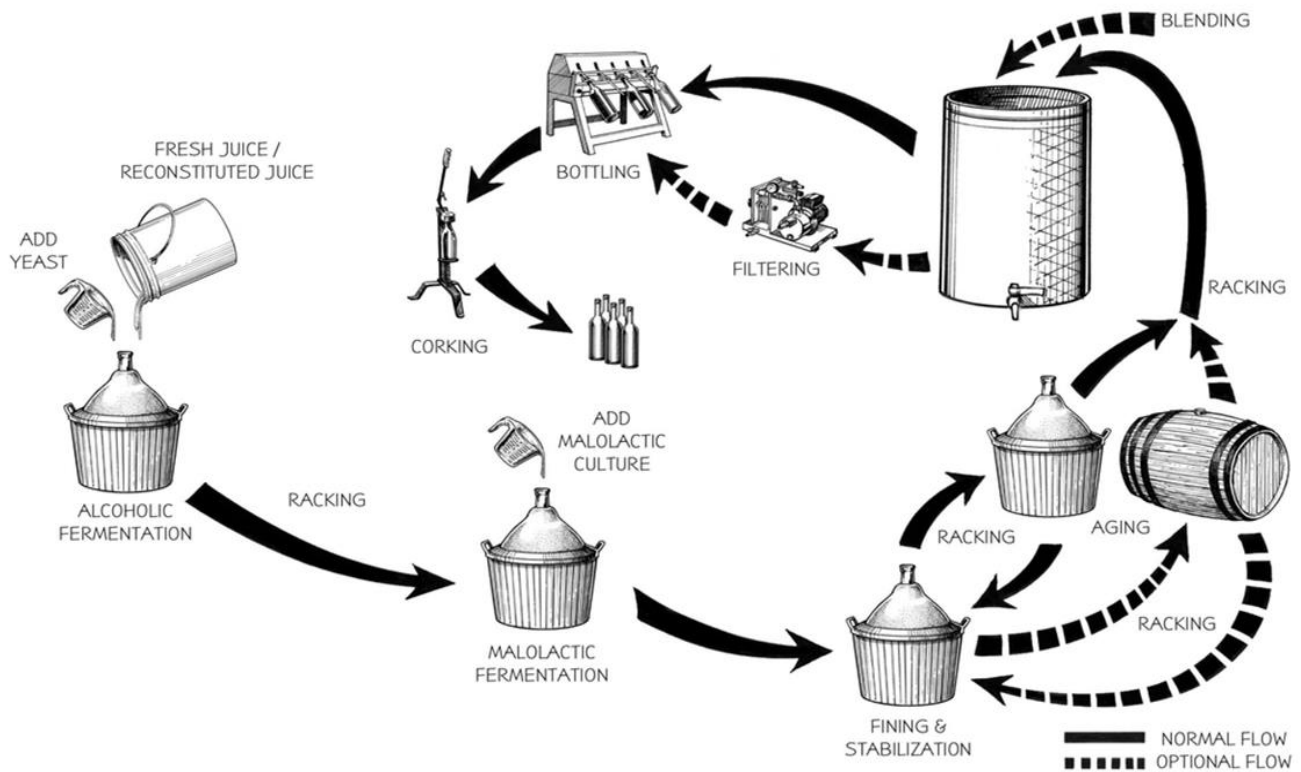

This is the section where the bottles are doubled & likely so is the vision. Two bottles in each of these bad boys. We have put this together in memory of Taras Ochota--Big Bottles for a Big Personality. Rest easy, Mate!
